

UDAAN 2025

BIOLOGY

DHA 07

How do Organisms Reproduce ?

- Q1 Procedure of tubectomy is performed as a method of contraception in
(A) Males
(B) Females
(C) Both males and females
(D) None of these
- Q2 Which of the following is a bacterial STDs?
(A) AIDS
(B) Gonorrhoea
(C) Syphilis
(D) Both B and C are correct
- Q3 IUCD are inserted in
(A) Uterus (B) Fallopian tube
(C) Urethra (D) Vas deferens
- Q4 Which of the following contraceptive methods can be utilised for preventing STDs?
(A) Barrier method
(B) Chemical method
(C) IUDs
(D) Surgical method
- Q5 Vasectomy is a surgical procedure in which _____ is cut and tied
(A) Uterus (B) Fallopian tube
(C) Urethra (D) Vas deferens

Answer Key

Q1 (B)

Q2 (D)

Q3 (A)

Q4 (A)

Q5 (D)

Hints & Solutions

Q1 Text Solution:

In tubectomy fallopian tube is cut and ligated

Video Solution:*Q2 Text Solution:

More than one option is correct. Both Gonorrhoea and Syphilis are bacterial sexually transmitted diseases (STDs).

Video Solution:*Q3 Text Solution:

IUCD (Intrauterine Contraceptive Device) is inserted into the uterus as a contraceptive method.

Video Solution:*Q4 Text Solution:

The barrier method of contraception, such as condoms, can help prevent the transmission of sexually transmitted diseases (STDs) in addition to preventing pregnancy.

Video Solution:*Q5 Text Solution:

Vasectomy is a surgical procedure in which the vas deferens (D) is cut and tied to prevent the passage of sperm.

Video Solution:

Android App | iOS App | PW Website